

Pi Mu Epsilon

Thursday, November 13, 2014
12:15-12:50 PM in Hume 201

Metadata, Social Networks, and Paul Revere Joshua Adam Gray

Dr. Kieran Healy, a sociologist at Duke University, wrote an article last summer discussing how “metadata” from colonial America could have been used to identify Paul Revere as a key figure of the American Revolution before it began. Dr. Gray will discuss the graph theory underlying some of these ideas and how it pertains to modern social networks.

A one-time payment of $10 covers your pizza lunch, including drink, for all meetings this semester!

Hope to see you on Thursday!